

GRANDVIEW INDEPENDENT

Richmond celebrates community at annual Spirit & Soul Festival

By Soren Hemmila • 21 Sept 2025

View in browser

Classic cars line Macdonald Avenue in downtown Richmond during the Spirit and Soul Festival on Saturday, September 20, 2025. The free, family-friendly event featured live music, food, vendors, and community resources. Photos/ Soren Hemmila

The heart of downtown Richmond was filled with music, color, and community pride on Saturday as the Spirit and Soul Festival returned for its 2025 celebration.

The free event, organized by the Richmond Main Street Initiative, took place from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. along Macdonald Avenue, between Harbour Way and 16th Street. Families, neighbors, and visitors enjoyed a full day of entertainment that included live performances, a classic car show, a youth sports zone, and a health and resources hub.

The festival also featured food and beverage vendors, artisan and craft booths, and activities for all ages. Classic cars lined the streets, offering a nostalgic highlight for attendees and car enthusiasts alike.

The Spirit and Soul Festival is dedicated to uniting the Richmond community through celebration of its diversity and vibrant culture, with organizers promoting unity and a shared sense of purpose.

For more information about upcoming downtown events and opportunities to get involved, visit richmondmainstreet.org.
